Hi EPA Press Team,

I'm writing to ask about the light duty vehicle GHG midterm evaluation. The big day is fast approaching for the Final Determination, with some holidays between now and April 1 thrown in for good measure. Given what agency folks have said about signing the final determination by April 1, and how it lands on Easter, is there anything you can say on the record about when it will be signed and/or released that we can report?

We'd like to get something basic out to our readers to know what's happening on this due to the holiday weekend. Thanks in advance for considering.

Cheers,

Ryan
